The Ardsley House Hotel & Health Club first joined the Forestdale family in June 2001

The Ardsley House Hotel is the former home of one of Yorkshires most prominent families – the Mickelthwaites, associated with Yorkshire for over six centuries. Built in the late 18th century, now greatly extended and modernised the imposing building still retains many of its original Georgian features.

From the moment that you arrive at the hotel you will be made to feel most welcome. The hotel is conveniently located just 10/15 minutes drive from the M1 and has an extensive free car park for residents and their guests alike.

All of the 75 rooms are en-suite with colour TV, courtesy tray, hairdryer, trouser press and direct dial telephones with a modem point to enable you to use your PC. Some rooms have air conditioning. The lounge bar with its attractive conservatory is the ideal place to meet friends and colleagues serving substantial bar meals during the day and has a selection of beers including real ale.

The Allendale Restaurant, with views over the lawns and woodlands, prides itself in offering a wide range of dishes from the table d'hote menu and extensive a la carte menu, featuring the Barnsley Chop. In warmer times meals can be taken out on the patio protected with large umbrellas with heaters.

Extensive banqueting facilities enable us to cater for up to 300 persons in our main suite. This is extremely popular for wedding parties. Our training centre features all the necessary requirements for todays conferences and meetings.

Recently added to this well known local hotel is the new health club featuring indoor heated swimming pool.
